

Photojournalism: London Through the Lens

Camera Requirements

Any camera is acceptable! Including the ones built into smartphones. You will be able to complete all the required assignments with any camera, and it will be just as possible to achieve top grades working with a smartphone as a DSLR. However, it is worth noting that the experience of the course will vary somewhat depending on what camera you bring.

There will be several sessions during the course in which a limited, but not insignificant, period will be spent on technical instruction. Those with more advanced, dedicated cameras, such as DSLRs or 'mirrorless' cameras, may be able to experiment and explore certain features and visual possibilities more effectively during these parts of the sessions - although the material will be delivered in a way that allows everyone to achieve as much as possible with the camera they have.
